DRAMATIC READINGS AT THE MT. AUBURN INSTITUTE.—Miss Vaughn, daughter of a journalist of this city, and a lady of intellect and culture, will give a dramatic reading at the Mt. Auburn Institute, on Friday evening. It will consist of selections from the great poets, and, judging from her ability, should be heard by all lovers of dramatic art.

MAN INJURED BY FALLING INTO A CELLAR. Man Injured by Falling into a Gellar.

A man named Young, evening before last, accidentally feil down the steps leading to Eichenlaub's beer cellar, on Vine-street, above Liberty. When taken up he was perfectly insensible, and it was feared that he had received injuries from which he could not recover. not recover.

Mone Home Testimony,-Messra. Grover & Baker are daily in receipt of such letters as the following:

"Having used one of your sewing-machines for the last two years, I feel justified in saying that it answers for all kinds of family sewing, and would recommend it to all persons having enough sewing for a machine. Mrs. G. W. Gould, Cincinnati, Ohio,"

PAINFUL ACCIDENT TO A POLICEMAN.— While policeman Harmon, of the Third Ward, was endeavoring to clear the thorough-fare at the corner of Third and Broadway, yesterday morning, during the market hours, he was knocked down by an express wagon which made a short turn at the corner, and ran over him. The little finger of his left hand was severed and he was otherwise se-verely and painfully bruised.

Man's Les Broken by a Fall.—A laborer named John Miller, residing in Carr-street, while engaged in piling lumber some place in the neighborhood of his residence, yesterday afternoon, fell and broke his right leg in two places, and otherwise bruised himself quite badly. Medical assistance was called and he was rendered as comfortable conquite badly. Medical assistance was called and he was rendered as comfortable as possible, but his wounds will confine him to the house for some time.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNTY COMMISSION-ERS.—At their regular diurnal session yes-terday morning, the County Commissioners passed orders amounting to $298 15; of which $53 were paid to F. Pfister for shoes for pris-oners; $48 56 for advertising: $30 56 to C. H. Wehrman for bread for Work-house; $29 75 to Leopold Wyler for clothing for prisoners; $22 70 to George F. Kestner for lime for new jail and $112 64 to E. D. Crookshank for pay-roll for new jail. No other business was transacted.

WHITE'S PATENT THIEF-DETECTING MONEY-DRAWER.—We have, on one or two former occasions, noticed the new alarm moneydrawer, which is so ingeniously contrived that it can not be opened by burglars, without creating an alarm. We now learn that Mr. Miles. the former agent, has sold his interest to Messrs. A. F. and S. W. Worthington, of College Hill, who will commence manufacturing them in a short time. It is useless to add that they have taken the S. it seless to add that they have taken premium wherever exhibited.

Highway Robbery—Man Severely Beaten.
A man named Thomas Carmichael appeared at the Commercial Hospital, yesterday morning, with his head cut and his face bruised, and stated that he had been robbed bruised, and stated that he had been robbed of $72. He had attended a ball Tuesday night, in the neighborhood of the Brighton House, and on his way down town had been met by some persons, who beat and bruised him very badly, and robbed him of all the money he had in the world. He resides at Auburn, Champaigne County, Ohio, and is in the city on a visit, combining business and pleasure. His wounds were attended to, and he will be taken care of until he is able to care for himself.

Oysters.—H. L. Stiles & Co., well known in the business circles of this city as produce and commission merchants, have opened a branch house for the sste of oysters by the can, in the room two doors north of the Passa Office, on Vine-street, for the purpose of accommodating their customers in the upper part of the city. Their main house of business is at No. 53 Walnut-street, but so extensive has their patronage become, that a branch establishment became necessary.

It is with great pleasure that we commend this firm to the public, though their wide spread reputation almost renders such commendation useless. We have no doubt that they will do a large business at their new stand, as they keep none but first-class new stand, as they keep none but first-class oysters, and such as will be appreciated by our oyster-loving community. Remember the stand, two door above the Pages Office.

The Say Affre Minisht—A Paragraph For Those Who Sleep 'o Nights.—The pluvial Hyades reach the meridian about two o'clock A. M., and shortly afterward the belted monarch of the northern sky, Orion, strides across the firmament in all his majesty and beauty. The brightest stars in the heavens are visible then, the most brilliant constellations, and four of the largest planets, Venus, Jupiter, Mars, and Saturn, the whole presenting a very attractive field for the student of astronomy.

From three o'clock in the morning, about which time Venus makes its appearance, until five, that planet casts a shadow, like the moon when three days old. Venus is now in the constellation Cancer, near the group of small stars in the body of the crab. With Procyan in Canis Minor, and Pollux in Gemini, it forms a triangle of nearly equal sides. Having almost reached its greatest distance from the san, Venus will appear stationary for some time, but will by-and-by move of toward the east, receding from the earth as it travels in that direction.

About 10° eastward of Venus, by 1° to the north, Jupiter shines with a very brilliant light. This king of the planetary bodies is now moving slowly toward the east, and will continue to do so for a few weeks longer, after which he will also appear to stand still, and then take the opposite course for three months.

Saturn is becoming visible before sunrise, but it is difficult for an unpracticed eye yet to distinguish this planet, although second in magnitude to Jupiter. All these bodies, however, will appear high in the heavens during the winter evenings, following the brilliant constellations which are now beginning to show themselves above the eastern horizon.

Mars is at present the most distinct object

An ordinance was introduced authorising the purchase of a small steam fire-engine from A. B. Latta. Passed.

Adjourned. The Stover Wood-working Machines.—
We are glad to see that these really valuable machines, a sketch of which we gave a few days ago, seem to be meeting the favor which they deserve from the public. Both the planes and the moulding machine, whenever they are in operation, are surrounded by a crowd, not alone of chance spectators, who have merely straggled along there, but principally mechanics and workmen, who are capable of judging of such things, and whose attentive interest, even without their loudly expressed commendations, would indicate the high estimation in which they hold them.

We noticed in the crowd last evening several gentlemen, largely interested in various departments of the wood-working business of our city, and afterward we overheard one or two of them expressing their warm approval of the performance of both machines. We observe that Mess rs. Stover & Co. do something which was far. & Co. do something which very few paten-tees venture to do; that is, they publish on their circular the claims of their different patents, so that any one can see precisely the points of advantage which they possess over other machines; or perhaps, we should say, some of the advantages, for there are others not included in their patents which are perhaps not the less valuable.

We mentioned in our former article the peculiar arrangement of the catting-knives, of the planers by which they were made to give a shearing or drawing stroke, thereby using much less power and doing much smoother work. These knives are fastened to solid wrought iron cutter-heads having a smoother work. These knives are lastened to solid wrought iron cutter-heads having a large steel bearing, so constructed as to form a complete heel or double iron, which is indispensable for planing cross-grained stuff, and by means of it also much less time is required to keep the knife in order. We spoke, also, of the neculiar method of geering the also, of the peculiar method of geering the feed-rollers, by which five geer-wheels are made to do the work usually requiring eleven. We turned the feed-rollers last night by hand and were astonished at the esse with which they worked. It must require for less rower to run them; then in the esse with which they worked. It must require far less power to run them than in the ordinary Woodworth machine. This machine will surface-dress as fast as the Woodworth and plane straight and out of wind much faster than the Daniels.

much faster than the Daniels.

The other improvement is a new kind of guard, which is placed over the cutter-head, so as to prevent the workmen from getting his hands entangled in the cutters under any circumstances. All those who have worked on this kind of machine will appreciate the value of this arrangement. Both these machines will be in operation every evening during the Fair.

We were shown last night two new improvements in the moulding-mackine. One is a combination cutter-head, in which several narrow knives are placed between spiral collars in such a manner that they produce the effect of one large cutter, and as the relacollars in such a manner that they produce the effect of one large cutter, and as the rela-tive position of the knives to each other may be readily changed, several different styles of moulding can be produced with the same bits, instead of being obliged to have a sepa-rate bit for each different style as on the ordinary machine.

PUBLISM IN THE WEST-END—A Mill at the Brighton House.—It is regarded by a somewhat numerous class existing at the present day, in this, as well as in most other large cities throughout the United States, to be quite honorable and meritorious to be akilled in the "manly art of self-defense." So thought a couple of young bruisers on Tuesday evening, whose ire had been previously enkindled by some misunderstanding. With an extraordinary amount of pluck on both sides, they selected seconds, and the whole party, consisting of some ten or fifteen eager individuals took their departure from the corner of Fifth and Broadway for the field of "action." They unanimously agreed to proceed to Brighton, in order to avoid the police. Arrived at the spot selected, they soon squared off and commenced "operations;" K, first saluting P, in the vicinity of the proboseis, at which P, aroused to sensitiveness by the unexpected shock, let fly, showing K, the stars and his matural length herizontality at the same time ordinary machine. aroused to sensitiveness by the unexpected shock, let fly, showing K, the stars and his natural length horizontally at the same time. After pitching into each other generally for nearly forty minutes, P.'s seconds threw up the sponge, and K., though at the expense of his eyes and general appearance, was, of course, acknowledged the champion. All parties appeared to be extremely satisfied with the issue, and soon after dispersed for their respective quarters.

Mars is at present the most distinct object in the heavens during the evening, crossing the meridian a short time after sunsest. It is gradually becoming more obscure as it passes away from the earth, and by the middle of November will have disappeared. Its motion is at present hardly perceptible, but after a few weeks it will move pretty rapidly toward the east. AMUSEMENTS.

PIKE'S OPERA-HOUSE, - Sidney Frances Bateman's performance, so far as concerns Gerald as, is much better than that of her daughter Kate. The p'sy is better than the impersonation of the principal female part. The drams was represented, lact night at the Opera-house, to a large and fashionable audience, and was loudly said frequently applanded Miss Boteman was called before the curtain at the lose, and was almost smothered in bouquets; for she sewed a good night to her friends, with her pretty bands as full as they could be of delicate and fre ant flowers. The closing picture of every act was accred, and the audience seemed to be highly grathed with the performance. The play has been put upon the stage with great care, and eminently doerves to be seen by every lover of the drams.

Susan Denin appeared last night as "Lisette," in ARDUCTION CASE.—A young girl, about thirteen years old, named Molissa Allen, whose parents reside on Main-street, was abducted from her home night before last, by a young tad, named George Brookshaw. The elopement was caused by a refusal by the girl's parents to allow the juveniles to attend the Odd Fellows Fair together.

ODD FELLOWS' FAIR.—The attendance at the Odd Fellows' Fair has been even larger than the most anguine had reason to expect. In the evenings, in particular, the crowd has been so great that a passage through it has been almost impossible. This patrouse, which exhibits in a favorable light the liberality of our citizens, has no doubt been bestowed as a token of an appreciation of the benevoient conduct of the Order, which has shown itself on every occasion when the deserving were in need of aid and sympathy.

To the Editors of the Daily Press:

To the Editors of the Duily Press:

Believing Mr. Sourhry's card, in your paper of the let of October, was calculated to place the Republicans in a false position before the public, and create prejudices in many minds, by leading them to suppose we rucklessly set down men and bring them on mas workers in our carse, without knowing whether they were with us or not, I respectfully state that at a Republican meeting, on Saturday last, a committee was appointed, and, as is usual in all parties and secieties, absent members are appointed, Mr. Sourbry, although absent, was appointed, which dispiessed him. He, instead of requesting his name to be crassed, issued in scand, which, I think, was uncalled for and unkind. I did not know the young man, and had never speken to him, till I employed him to do some work, when, unsolicited by me, he said for and unkind. I did not know the young man, and had never speken to him, till I employed him to vote for Lincoln and Hamilin. I merely replied I was glad he was so strongly interested in our existe. Under the circumstances, I think he was indiscreet and was guilty of duplicity. I wish the young man well, and if his consciouse approves such actions, he has not a hair that grows on his head of Republicanien, or one drop of true Republican blood in his velus. If consistent, I would say to my hrother Republicans here, be wise, be vigilant, be firm, and to a man, and like men, recen'd your votes on the 6th of November, as true Espublicans, for Lincoln and Hamilin, let us do all we can to advance our prospering cause; let no candidate be thought of but our own, and I will venture to say the Bepublican vote will astolish even ourselves, and be borne on the wings of the wind East, West, North and South, prodaining honor to, and admiration of the brave and noble Republican of the brave and noble Republican party; it is my own act and dead, and if there is any thing objectionable, I do not wish any blame attached to the party or any member thereof. Startling Intelligence-Louis Napoleon a Fillibuster-The Emperor Napoleon at Alleged Accomplice of General Walker. The Montgomery (Ala.) Mail, of the 28th ult., makes this important announcement:

ult., makes this important announcement:

Gen. Walker visited this city about five or six weeks before he went to Ruatan. He had been here a little while previously and left unfinished a negotiation about a small amount of funds. The last time he came, his only object was to meet on business Dr. Wm. H. Rives, of this city, who at the time happened to be absent in Florida. The General, therefore, only remained from eight in the morning until four in the afternoon.

During these few hours, Gen. Walker had very full, if not unreserved, conversations with Col. Joel Riggs and the senior editor of this paper, both in this office and ghat of the Southern Insurance Company, of which Col. R. is the Secretary. In those conversations (which in the main were of the same tenor as those held during the previous visit), he which in the main were of the same tenor as those held during the previous visit), he made one or two statements, in regard to which he imposed an obligation of secrecy, only so far as it should be necessary to protect his enterprise. That at an end, there i tect his enterprise. That at an end, there is no reason why we should not publish these statements, as showing, in part at least, on what Gen, Walker relied.

To both Col. Riggs and ourself, Gen Walker stated (in conversations held during both visits, but with most emphasis, and particularly during the last,) that he had assurance of assistance from the French Government, if he should be able to regain control of Nicaragua. He alleged that there was a perfect understanding between that Government and himself, that if he would establish the institution of Slavery, by law, in Nicaragua, the French Government would sea that the French commercial marine should bring to Nicaragua as many slaves from Africa as to Nicaragua as many slaves from Africa as could be profitably carried there.

He expressed to us the utmost confidence

He expressed to us the utmost confidence in the arrangement, and to Rigg's question, "if the Emperor of the French had himself signified his approval of the arrangement?" he answered distinctly, "Yes, the Emperor himself has been approached, and I have guaranties," or words precisely tantamount. He did not, of course, indicate the channel through which the arrangement had been made, but that he placed absolute faith in it was obvious to any one who knew him. We believe that he added to us that there were details of the arrangement which it was needless and would be improper to mention.

The General at the same time informed us that he had been for some weeks sending men down singly or in pairs, to Ruatan, which, he said, was only forty-five miles from the coast of Honduras; that his agent there was an old Alabama River boatman of intelligence, who kept public sentiment all right in Ruatan, and himself advised; that he had paid out all the funds he could raise in Ruatan passages; was here to obtain $4,000, which had been partially promised him, with which, and 100 or 200 men, and the arms of the Susan (all at Ruatan in good order,) he could go over to Honduras and order, he could go over to Honduras and work his way into Nicaragua, where he hoped to get control of the Transit-route, and receive accessions at both ends. He assured us he had so many friends in Nicaragua, aragua, among the natives, that a small white force only would be necessary.

PAINFUL TRAGEDY-A Girl Shoots Herself PAINFUL TRAGEDY—A Girl Shoots Herself to Prevent her Dishonor by her own Father.—
Tuesday's New York papers say that a painful tragedy occurred at the residence of Mr. Enoch Griffiths, No. 221 West Thirty-sixth-street, on Sunday. The principal in the affair, a young woman named Josephine Clifton Lyon, was obliged to leave her father's roof in consequence of the efforts of the latter to make her lead a life of shame. Seized with the idea that her father would discover her whereabouts and take her home. discover her whereabouts and take her home she determined to commit suicide rather than submit to such treatment. Accordingly, on Sunday evening she procured a revolver and shot herself through the chest, inflicting a mortal wound. The injured woman was alive last evening, but the physicians in at-tendance have no hope of her recovery.

EXTRAORDINARY CAPTURE OF SHARES,— The sloop Emma, formerly Splendid, has just returned to the Sandwich Islands from a cruise around French Frigate Shoal, where she had been to obtain sharks' fins and seal oil. During her cruise she has taken about 800 sharks, some of moustrous size, with jaws large enough to swallow an ox whole. Several encounters were had with their savage sharkships, during one of which a shark bit a piece out of the sloop's side largers than on a piece out of the stoop's side larger than a man's head. On another occasion two sharks which had been caught actually towed the stoop several miles to the leeward, though she had both her anchors down at the time. These fins, which the stoop has been in search of, are eaten by the Chinese, with whom they constitute a favorite delicacy. cacy.
